toto's SINCE 1932...

Toto's Restaurant & Pizzeria was first opened by my grandparents, Caroline and Antonio (Toto) Spadarella in 1932 on Coney Island Avenue in Brooklyn. Both were from Naples, the region in Italy where pizza originated. Using a huge brick oven, they began baking pizza according to the traditional recipe, the same recipe we use today.

After World War II, the family moved to San Francisco, where Toto and Caroline opened an Italian restaurant in North Beach. As the love of pizza grew, the business thrived and in 1949 a second San Francisco store opened.

My parents Ida and Frank opened a larger Toto's on Mission street in 1954 and so began San Francisco's first pizza delivery service, using a fleet of brightly painted motorcycles and vans. In 1957, Toto's Daly City opened followed by the San Bruno store in 1972.

Today, the 5th generation of the Spadarella family own and operate the San Bruno, Belmont and San Francisco locations. As more and more people come to discover and appreciate traditional Italian cooking, they are also discovering the Italian pizza our grandfather Toto taught us to make.
